One-Shop Picture Framing & Sewing Machine Servicing

There's a shop in Truro where you can have your picture framing done, your sewing machine fixed – or both. What makes the shop unusual is that the same person carries out these two distinctive skills.

Frank Organ, owner of Uneeda Sewing Machines & Custom Framing, moves easily from one job to the other and thrives on the variety.

"I work very well between one and the other," he says. "First you get good and then you get fast." For over 20 years, he's become both while retaining his focus on customer service. For example, if someone from outside of Truro is in town or passing through, Frank will do his best to have the work done within a day so the customer doesn't have to make a return trip.

As one of only a few sewing machine repairmen in Nova Scotia, he gets a lot of work from different parts of the province. Frank repairs all brands of sewing machines and sergers, both domestic and industrial, and has many parts available for machines, both old and new.

Sew Frame It

He does custom framing of photos, prints, artwork, cross-stitch, needlework, sports jerseys and military memorabilia.

The two trades are very complimentary and often a job in one area will lead to work in the other. All customers benefit from his artist's eye and years of experience. "I'm a creative person and artist myself . . . and I enjoy guiding creative people in making their decisions."
